Class IV (Morning)

Dear Parents/Guardian,

At the very beginning we would like to thank you all for the continuous support to all our social service projects. It is your overwhelming response that continues to sustain many sections of society.

Daan Utsav is an annual festival of 'giving' that is entirely volunteer driven. Since the movement began in 2009, over 40 lakh individuals from auto drivers to CEOs, school children to celebrities have participated in 100 cities across India, raising thousands in donation and millions of hours in volunteering.

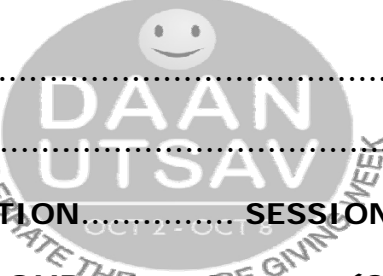

This year as usual, we, at South Point are going to be a part of the Daan Utsav, a week long festival which begins on Gandhi Jayanti, October 2.

Durga Puja is a very special time in West Bengal and wearing new clothes is an integral part of it. We at South Point want to make a difference to countless children, who have never ever owned or worn anything new in all their lives. We would therefore like the students of Class IV to come forward and gift a new outfit to an underprivileged child and experience the 'joy of giving'. This entirely voluntary act will promote the values of empathy and compassion among our students. We hope all of you will join in helping to make this festival of sharing and giving a success. The donated clothes this year, as usual, will go to the children in care of the non-profit organizations.
