

Students put their best foot forward

Music, dance, theatre, speeches and more — schools encourage pupils to showcase their talent in every sphere

More than 300 students of South Point School and South Point High School presented two beautiful productions at Science City auditorium on the sidelines of the annual prize distribution ceremony. The junior school staged Disney's The Tale of a Frozen Land and the senior school presented Flight of Faith about the journey of birds. Students were awarded for their hard work and excellence in academics and extra-curricular activities. A new award was announced by the South Point Ex-Students' Association for students who bring the school fame at the national or international level in science and technology, literature, performing arts, sports and service to society. Avinandan Bose of the 2017-18 batch took away the prize in its introductory year.

YOUNG METRO

"The students, including the choir, did an outstanding job," said Dalbir Kaur Chadda, the principal of South Point School. Rupa Sanyal Bhattacharjee, the principal of South Point High School, congratulated the creative team for putting up a great show. "The production is special because it gives out a very positive message," she said. Calcutta University vice-chancellor Sonali Chakravarti Banerjee was the chief guest of the evening.